7 CFR Part 910

[Lemon Regulation 648]

Lemons Grown in California and Arizona; Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Regulation 648 establishes the quantity of fresh California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to market at 295,000 cartons during the period January 15 through January 21, 1989. Such action is needed to balance the supply of fresh lemons with market demand for the period specified, due to the marketing situation confronting the lemon industry.

DATES: Regulation 648 (§ 910.948) is effective for the period January 15 through January 21, 1989.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Raymond C. Martin, Section Head, Volume Control Programs, Marketing Order Administration Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Room 2523, South Building, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, DC 20090– 6456; telephone: (202) 447–5697.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512–1 and has been determined to be a "non-major" rule under criteria contained therein.

Pursuant to requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory action to the scale of business subject to such actions in order that small businesses will not be unduly or disproportionately burdened. Marketing orders issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, and rules issued thereunder, are unique in that they are brought about through group action of essentially small entities acting on their own behalf. Thus, both statutes have small entity orientation and compatibility.

There are approximately 85 handlers of lemons grown in California and Arizona subject to regulation under the lemon marketing order and approximately 2500 producers in the regulated area. Small agricultural producers have been defined by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.2) as those having annual gross revenues for the last three years of less than $500,000, and small agricultural service firms are defined as those whose gross annual receipts are less than $3,500,000. The majority of handlers and producers of California-Arizona lemons may be classified as small entities.

This regulation is issued under Marketing Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910) regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act (the "Act," 7 U.S.C. 601–674), as amended. This action is based upon the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee (Committee) and upon other available information. It is found that this action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

This regulation is consistent with the marketing policy for 1988–89. The Committee met publicly on January 10, 1989, in Los Angeles, California, to consider the current and prospective conditions of supply and demand and unanimously recommended a quantity of lemons deemed advisable to be handled during the specified week. The Committee reports that demand for lemons is good.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, it is further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in further public procedure with respect to this action and that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this action until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation is based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the Act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting. It is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared purposes of the Act, to make these regulatory provisions effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective time.

Calculation of Factors Which Contribute to the Determination of Whether To Impose a Temporary Duty on Canadian Fresh Fruits and Vegetables in Accordance With the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement Implementation Act of 1988

AGENCY: Foreign Agricultural Service. USDA.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: This interim rule sets forth the procedures by which the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) will monitor the import prices of certain Canadian fresh fruits and vegetables in accordance with section 301(a) of the United States-Canada Free-Agreement Implementation Act of 1988.

DATES: Effective on January 1, 1989, the date the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement enters into force. See Supplementary Information. Comments must be received on or before February 13, 1989.

ADDRESSES: Comments may be mailed to the Inter-America Branch, Foreign Agricultural Service/International Trade Policy, Room 5506 South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250. Copies of all written comments received will be available for examination by interested persons at the above address during regular business hours (8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m. weekdays).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Richard Petges, Inter-America Branch, FAS/ITP, Room 5506 South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250, (202) 382–1338. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This interim rule has been reviewed under United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) procedures implementing Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1 and has been classified as "non-major". It has been determined that this rule will not result in: (1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individuals, industries, Federal, State, or local governments, or geographic regions, or (3) significant adverse effects on competition. employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of the United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

An environmental impact statement has not been prepared since FAS is excluded from the requirements to prepare procedures implementing the National Environmental Policy Act in accordance with 7 CFR 1b.4.

This action will not increase the federal paperwork burden for individuals, small businesses and others. Furthermore, since this interim rule is part of the implementation of a bilateral trade agreement between the United States and Canada, it involves a foreign affairs function of the United States. Consequently, FAS is not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other provision of law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking for this action and the provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601) do not apply to this interim rule.

Background

On January 2, 1988, President Reagan notified Congress of his intent to enter into the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement (FTA). Pursuant to the FTA, the United States and Canada will each eliminate their tariffs on each other's goods within ten years of the FTA's entry into force. However, Article 702 of the FTA provides that select fresh fruits and vegetables will be eligible for a special duty snap-back. This provision is being implemented in U.S. law pursuant to section 301(a) of the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement Implementation Act of 1988. Under certain specified conditions, the United States may, during the twenty years following the Agreement's entry into force, temporarily restore the duty on imports of designated Canadian fresh fruits and vegetables. This rule elucidates the procedures that will be used by FAS to monitor the prices of the fresh fruits and vegetables imported from Canada that are eligible for the temporary duty and to notify the Secretary of Agriculture that the conditions outlined in Article 702 of the FTA for imposing such a duty for a particular fresh fruit or vegetable have been met.

These regulations are being promulgated to be effective upon the entry into force of the FTA. Article 2105 of the FTA provides that the FTA enters into force "on January 1, 1989 upon an exchange of diplomatic notes certifying the completion of necessary legal procedures by each Party." The Office of the United States Trade Representative will confirm in a Federal Register notice the precise date of the FTA's entry into force.¹

9 CFR Parts 350 and 352

[Docket No. 86-043F]

Voluntary Inspection of Exotic Animals

AGENCY: Food Safety and Inspection Service, USDA. ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) is adopting regulations to provide for voluntary inspection concerning certain exotic animals under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended. This rule amends Part 352 of the regulations promulgated under that Act, which provides voluntary inspection concerning American bison, catalo, and cattalo, to provide for voluntary antemortem, post-mortem, and products inspection of elk, deer, antelope, reindeer and water buffalo in the same manner as is presently performed for American bison. A triangular brand will be applied to exotic animal carcasses, meat and meat food products inspected and passed by authorized USDA or State employees in official exotic animal establishments. The rule will facilitate the sale and export of exotic animal carcasses, meat, and meat food products of the additional animals.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 13, 1989.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Dr. Douglas L. Berndt, Director, Slaughter Inspection Standards and Procedures Division, Technical Services, Food Safety and Inspection Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250, (202) 447–3219.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Executive Order 12291

The Agency has determined that this final rule is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291. This final rule would not result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies or geographical regions; or have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment. productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreignbased enterprises in domestic or export markets. Currently less than 2,000 exotic animals are slaughtered annually compared to over 32,000,000 cattle slaughtered in fiscal year 1986. It is not expected that the number of exotic animals slaughtered annually will substantially increase. In addition, since this is a voluntary fee-for-service program, producers must decide if the ability to market a federally inspected product offsets the resulting costs of inspection.

Effect on Small Entities

The Administrator has determined that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act, (5 U.S.C. 601). Since the voluntary inspection service for some exotic animals, with the exception of American bison, catalo, and cattalo, is not yet provided, FSIS does not have specific information on how many small entities may be affected by this final rule. However, FSIS believes that those producers of exotic animals who would be interested in participating in this voluntary inspection service are small in actual numbers and are small businesses. This assumption is based on the limited number of commercially raised exotic animals and the size of the herds of the animals now being commercially produced in the United States. This rule is expected to have an impact on all exotic animal producers who wish to have their products federally inspected because it will enable such producers to market their products as federally inspected. In determining whether to participate in this voluntary program, each producer decides if the ability to market a federally inspected product offsets the resulting costs of inspection. In addition, FSIS believes that a substantial number of those establishments which may choose to participate in the program, that is, agree to use their establishments for the preparation under official inspection of carcasses, meat, and products of exotic animals, will also be small businesses. This assumption is based on the fact that the locations where exotic animals are commercially produced are generally in remote areas where few large establishments are located. Each establishment will decide if such use of its facility and equipment is economically advantageous.

Background

The Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended, provides the Secretary of Agriculture with the authority to furnish a voluntary inspection service, on a fee basis, for exotic animals (7 U.S.C. 1622). Under Parts 350 and 352 of the regulations (9 CFR Parts 350 and 352) promulgated under that Act, the Department provides inspection and certification services for reindeer and American bison, catalo, and cattalo, respectively. These inspection services enable persons to have ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection performed on these exotic animals. The inspected and passed meat is branded with a USDA mark of inspection and can be sold interstate or exported.

The increasing consumer demand for exotic animal meat and the increasing number of exotic animals being raised for food prompted exotic animal producers to request the adoption of similar regulations for the inspection and marking of these animals and their meat products as are currently provided for American bison, catalo, and cattalo.

Therefore, on February 24, 1988, FSIS published a proposed rule (53 FR 5387) to add other exotic animal species to Part 352 which provided only for the voluntary inspection of American bison, catalo, and cattalo. FSIS proposed to add elk, deer, antelope, and water buffalo to Part 352 and to transfer reindeer from Part 350 to Part 352 to consolidate the provisions for voluntary inspection of all exotic animals. To avoid confusion, FSIS proposed to redefine buffalo as animals belonging to the buffalo family and bison as animals belonging to the bison family.

This final rule allows the following three alternative locations for antemortem inspection of reindeer, elk, deer, antelope, and water buffalo, which are presently allowed for American bison, catalo, and cattalo: (1) in the field in a designated area of an owner's premises; (2) on an appropriate transport vehicle at an official exotic animal establishment; and (3) in ante-mortem pens at an official exotic animal establishment. The ante-mortem inspection performed on reindeer, elk, deer, antelope, water buffalo, and bison which is either in the field or on a transport vehicle will be dependent on the adequacy and safety of the particular situation. Humane handling of exotic animals during ante-mortem inspection will be in accordance with § 313.2 of the Federal meat inspection regulations (9 CFR 313.2) which prescribes various methods of humane slaughter.

The post-mortem inspection procedure will be performed in an official exotic animal establishment by a USDA inspector or an inspector of a cooperating State, with the post-mortem disposition determined by the authorized veterinarian. The final rule allows the utilization of Federal and State meat inspection personnel for ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of reindeer, elk, deer, antelope, water buffalo, and bison.

The triangular brand was designed not only to identify inspected and passed bison and bison meat food products under FSIS's voluntary inspection service, but was also designed to identify meat of other exotic animals approved for inspection at a future date. The triangular brand will be applied to these specific exotic animal carcasses, meat and meat food products inspected and passed by authorized USDA or State employees in an official exotic animal establishment. The ordering and manufacture of the triangular brand will be in accordance with the provisions contained in § 317.3(c) of the Federal meat inspection regulations (9 CFR 317.3).

Discussion of Comments

The Agency received eight comments in response to the proposal. Four commenters supported the proposal; four opposed it. One of the four opposing commenters provided no additional comment. The remaining three opposing commenters felt the proposal would permit the slaughter of game animals, thereby encouraging poaching in the wild which would decrease the numbers of such animals.

The Agency wishes to emphasize that the proposal was a result of requests from exotic animal producers (persons who are involved in the raising and/or marketing of exotic animals for commercial purposes) that the Agency provide Federal inspection of the slaughter and other preparation of elk. deer, antelope, reindeer and water buffalo. The rule provides for antemortem inspection (inspection before slaughter) by an FSIS inspector at a producer's premises, on a transport vehicle, or at an official exotic animal establishment. With regard to exotic animals in the wild, it would be very difficult if not impossible to trap and remove an exotic animal from the wild without tranquilizing the animal. Because animals which have been treated with tranquilizers are not permitted for slaughter, any person who attempted such action would gain nothing for their efforts. Therefore, this regulation would have no affect on poaching.

For the reasons discussed in the preamble, FSIS is amending Parts 350 and 352 of the Federal meat inspection regulations as follows:

12 CFR Part 1

[Docket No. 89-1]

Investment Securities Regulation

AGENCY: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury. ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("OCC") is amending 12 CFR Part 1 to make two nonsubstantive changes in the regulation. The first change in the regulation incorporates the existing statutory authority of national banks to underwrite and deal in obligations of the African Development Bank, the Inter-American Investment Corporation, and other Type II securities listed in 12 U.S.C. 24(Seventh). The second change deletes from the regulation an outdated and unnecessary provision describing procedures for banks to request rulings by OCC.
